Curveballs

How you react when things go wrong will tell you a lot about how you're currently approaching your job.

Each situation is an opportunity to learn.

What did you learn from your greatest mistakes?

What does that mean for the other people you lead?