

Should...

Check your language and your team's language.

When you're using the word 'should' to describe behaviour, ways of working or a change you want to see, you're either wishing blindly or making an excuse.

'Shoulds' should become goals. Take control of what you should be doing in the weeks ahead.