

The Only Constant...

There's a big difference between accepting change, being open to it, and embracing it.

Embracing change requires a willingness to manage it, adapt to new situations, and focus on handling unexpected demands.

Change is a source of opportunity for personal development.

Look for what others haven't seen.
Listen for what others haven't heard.
Be ready to pivot at any moment.