

Be A Launchpad

When it comes to your team, as their manager, where can you be a launchpad for them? Where can you take their hopes, dreams, aspirations and ambition to the next level?

It can be tempting to want people to stay, especially the good ones. It's hard finding new talent, and there's some pain involved. But if you can stretch someone in your team, and they're looking to make that leap, then go for it. Be bold, be a launchpad for people's dreams.