

Unseen Growth

The Chinese bamboo tree seemingly does nothing for its first few years of life.

No growth, or very little at least above ground for over 1500 days.

And then bam. It wakes up.

And in 40 days it'll grow 80 feet.

You know what it was doing in those first 1500 days? Laying down roots. Building the foundations for a future.

Make sure you're not trying to grow above ground before you've done the hard work of putting down roots to support it.
