

The Glue

Who's the glue in your team?

They're like a captain in a football team. Sometimes unseen, not the most skilled player or one that gets wheeled out in front of the press. They're probably somewhat reticent, uncertain of the title. But they hold that team together. They raise the standard, and they're right there in it.

Find the captain of your team, engage them, coach them, and listen to them. They're so valuable to your success.
