

Make every contact count

Every contact with a team member allows you to move things forward.

- You can have a conversation that develops your relationship.
- You can repeat a key message.
- You can observe performance.
- You can coach or counsel.
- You can encourage or praise.

The key is to use every contact to improve things for the team member, the team as a whole, or both.