

Listen

When was the last time you truly listened?

When it's busy, or things are uncertain, it's easy to tune out from what you're hearing.

But genuine listening acts as a bridge connecting leaders with their teams.

So make a conscious effort to practice active listening - no interruptions or distractions. And who knows what powerful insights you might gain by truly hearing others.