

Start with why

There's a purpose behind every task. Take a moment this week to connect your team to the 'why' behind their work.

When people understand the impact of their contributions—on patients, colleagues, and the organisation—they're more motivated to give their best.

Ask your team: What's one task this week where understanding the purpose might make a difference in how we approach it? Reflect together on the difference it makes.