

Reframe the challenge

What problem are you avoiding? Instead of seeing it as a burden, consider it an opportunity to innovate and grow. Think about how this challenge could lead to a breakthrough in how your team works or thinks.

Ask your team for input and brainstorm new approaches together.

Involving others in reframing challenges generates solutions and also builds resilience and ownership.