

Say Less, Ask Better

Sometimes a team goes quiet,
not because people have nothing to say,
but because the question was too easy.

'Any issues?'
rarely gets you very far.

Try something better.

What's getting in the way?
What feels harder than it should?
What are we putting up with that we do not need to?

Better questions bring better truths.